RICHMOND'S CONSERVATION RESERVE FUND

What is the Conservation Reserve Fund?

Richmond voters established the Fund in 2005 to help our Town to take better advantage of important conservation opportunities. The CRF supports property owners, non-profits and community volunteer groups working to conserve local natural, agricultural and historic resources. It enables the Town to consider and act quickly and decisively on worthy projects. Since its inception voters have supported the CRF with a penny on the tax rate ($10 per $100,000 of property valuation). The Fund is voted upon annually. Last year the vote was 1014-420 in favor of renewal.

How has the CRF been used?

As shown on the back, the CRF has supported many important projects throughout town, including protecting sensitive wildlife habitats, maintaining and expanding recreational opportunities, and conserving working farms and historic sites and structures.

Why was the Fund created?

In a growing town like ours, conservation opportunities can arise at any time. They can just as rapidly disappear, too – often forever. This can make it hard to plan for or quickly find the significant amounts of money needed today to conserve important and vulnerable resources. Richmond's CRF continues to enable the Conservation Commission, Selectboard and the public to carefully review and still quickly act on key conservation opportunities.

The Fund has also greatly reduced our Town's costs of conservation. Many state, federal and private conservation funders require communities to share in project costs to show that voters support conservation. Voter-financed funds such as ours provide the needed proof, qualifying projects for very significant additional funding. So far, even dollar Richmond taxpayers have invested in conservation projects has generated $3.86 in funding from other sources – over $2.2 million in all.

How are funding decisions made?

Proposals are made to the Conservation Commission, which assesses their compliance with the funding criteria. The Selectboard considers the Conservation Commission's recommendations and makes the final decisions. Both bodies deliberate in public sessions. For funding any land acquisitions by the Town exceeding $20,000, direct voter approval is required.

What does the Fund cost taxpayers?

By adding one cent to the municipal tax rate, renewing the Fund would cost taxpayers $10 for every $100,000 of a property's assessment. In 2025 that will generate around $79,000 for important, approved conservation projects across town.

Does conserving land raise or lower property taxes overall?

An expert on Vermont tax policy, Deborah Brighton, has researched this and shown how conserving land helps keep property taxes in check. She says, "Open space tends to require few public services. More people tend to require more public services, resulting in higher taxes."

Furthermore, nearly all conserved land in Richmond, being privately held, continues generating tax revenues. (The exceptions are the Town-owned Andrews Community Forest, the Stage Road Community Forest and Overrockers Park. To qualify for public funds, landowners usually must guarantee public access to conserved land as warranted for hiking, hunting, fishing, skiing and other activities (one exception being land used for agriculture or livestock grazing).

What kinds of new projects does the Conservation Commission foresee?

Several projects appear to be in the pipeline for CRF funding. These include restoring wetland areas and popular hiking/biking trails damaged by last summer's flooding, a new parking lot for river access off Cochran Rd., trees for the Town Center, and possible trail engineering and constructions n the Andrews Town Forest.

Please help conserve and protect Richmond's best places.

Our town's highly successful Conservation Reserve Fund is up for its annual renewal in this year's voting. To keep it working, it needs your "YES" vote on or before March 7.

Thanks to solid voter support for the Fund since 2005, Richmond has been able to:

- Protect important local forests, streams, wildlife habitat and farmland, including the Andrews and Stage Road Community Forests, Beeken Rivershore Preserve and Bombardier Meadow.
- Safeguard and improve popular recreational and educational sites, like those above plus Gillett Pond, Volunteers Green, Willis Hill, Huntington River Gorge, the Johnnie Brook Trail and others.
- Restore local historic landmarks, like the portico at the Richmond Town Center.

Plus, for every Fund dollar used the Town has generated $3.67 more from other sources, helping produce over $1.9 million in additional support. And all for just a penny on the tax rate.

Let's keep the Fund working for Richmond. Please join us in voting "YES" on Article 5 on this year's paper ballot. Request yours from the Town Clerk at lp@parent@richmondvt.gov or call 434-2221. You can also vote in person for the Fund and other articles at the Town Center on March 7 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

And thanks for supporting local conservation!
