Richmond Post Office Ramp and Concrete Blocking

The Town of Richmond is seeking a qualified contractor to repair the concrete blocking on the east wall along Post Office ramp

Description of Project

The concrete block foundation on the east wall of the Town Center building, along the ramp is deteriorating due to the salt used to melt the ice in the winter.

Peter Cahill (Town Center Property Manager) consulted with a reputable masonry contractor who has done work in Richmond and Shelburne Farms, and the advice is that the concrete blocking is not repairable nor fit for patching measures. The sodium chloride has eaten into the concrete and has opened holes into the foundation below. The solution is to remove and replace the concrete blocking. New blocking can be treated biannually to combat the damage from the salt.

Scope of Work

- Remove all brick from the facade that resides over the deteriorated concrete block
 - The block is holding the brick
- Remove all concrete blocking from beside the ramp
- Unknown, but likely, the concrete ramp will need to be removed as the block extends below the ramp and the salt may have worked its way down into lower courses of block below the ramp's surface.
- Prep and repair demoed structure
- Replace concrete blocking with new blocks
- Replace existing brick work above the blocks to recover the façade
- Add protective coating to the finished work that will help prevent future erosion from salt
